Vol. 34, No. 34

CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1928.

A far-reaching State program for nationwide advertisement of California fruits, under a system of State standardization, backed by an "official State of California trademark," was placed before Governor C. C. Young late last week by the peach growers of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. "The fruit-growing industry of the State," Governor Young was informed, "has reached such a condition that, unless some remedial steps are at once taken to ameliorate this condition, this great basic industry either will be destroyed or retarded seriously."

An agricultural pageant, composed of floats from towns and communities of the State representative of their most important crop, will be the theme for the annual picnic day celebration at the university farm on April 21st. Bailey Fairchild of Lodi, chairman of the picnic day, says no limit is to be placed on the size of the town or city competing, the only condition being that the float is indicative of the most important crop produced. Each year a "theme" is planned to lend interest in Picnic Day. Mary and Her Little Lamb, Freckled Boy and Hound Dog, Mother Goose and similar stunts have been used to engage the towns and communities in competition and to add color to the celebration.

Growers in the Santa Maria Valley have planted 5139 acres to spring vegetables, including cauliflower, carrots, lettuce, cabbage, parsley, celery peas, beans and mixed greens, according to a survey recently made by Horticultural Inspector Clarence L. Nielson. Cauliflower leads with 2766 acres, while carrots follow with 1317 acres, and lettuce is third with 680 acres.

Persimmon pruning is now under way in the groves of Northern Orange county. Growers are generally practicing more conservative methods than formerly. Observations and tests by the agricultural extension service, in co-operating with several growers in Orange county, indicate that more fruit is produced on trees only slightly pruned. This consists of removing cross-limbs and interfering branches. A very limited amount of thinning out is practiced. George Beck of this district has satisfied himself after several years' observations, and trying the heavy and conservative pruning, that the latter method is productive of more fruit of good quality and size.

Cow testing in California last year reached a new high mark, according to G. E. Gordon, dairy specialist in the agricultural extension service of the University of California, with a gain of seven per cent over 1926. There were 70,000 cows under test in thirty-five counties in the State, says Mr. Gordon. During 1927 there were 481 meetings, held in forty-one counties regarding dairying with an attendance of 21,191 persons according to figures contained in Mr. Gordon's annual report. There were 5129 farms in forty-five counties which adopted improved dairy practices.

Starting down the west side of the San Joaquin Valley, looping around on the east side of the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys and down the west side of the Sacramento River counties, the fourteen-car demonstration train of the Southern Pacific Company and the agricultural extension service of the University of California will begin its demonstration at Newman on the morning of March 19th and will end its trip on Saturday afternoon, March 31st, at Dixon. Two meetings are to be held in each town where the train stops, one at the train and one uptown. Where the train stops in the morning, the uptown meetings will follow in the afternoon, and where the train stop is in the afternoon, the uptown gathering will be in the morning.

Expressing the belief that thorough investigation should be made of all future California land colonization schemes, Governor C. C. Young last week announced that a State agricultural intelligence service will shortly be established for this purpose and to afford reliable farming information to prospective settlers. "Too many acres have been planted in California, which are not fitted either by soil, climate or location to the crop which is growing thereon," asserted the governor.

Golden State News of Interest to All

Should laws excluding Mexican labor from the United States be enacted by Congress, 20,000 negroes from the Southern States will come to California immediately to work in fields and orchards at $1 a day. Information to this effect was received last week by the Agricultural Labor Bureau of the San Joaquin Valley, according to announcement from the California Development Association.

At a mass meeting of large landholders at Murphy's, Calaveras county, last week agreement was reached to establish a 40,000 game refuge in Calaveras and Tuolumne counties, including part of Stanislaus National Forest. Boundaries will be fixed within two weeks and the project placed before the State Fish and Game Commissioner and the Legislature. It will be asked that the refuge be closed for ten years.

California headquarters at the American Legion has just received the silver trophy given by the late Frederick W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander at the time of his death, to the state recording the greatest number of "man-miles" in attendance at the national legion convention. California chalked up 7,700,000 "man-miles" in sending 1,136 delegates to the Paris convention last fall. The Galbraith cup, a permanent trophy, also came to California in 1923.

The California Newspaper Publishers' Association will hold its annual convention in 1929 in Sacramento. Word that the association has accepted the invitation of the Sacramento Tourist and Convention Bureau to hold its next session at Sacramento was contained in a telegram received by L. W. Hayes, manager of the convention bureau. The newspaper publishers' association will meet at Sacramento in January with approximately 400 publishers from all parts of the state in attendance.

A list of gifts totalling $13,000 in cash or material of estimable value, and many other gifts whose value cannot readily be quoted, were accepted by the Board of Regents of the University of California at their annual meeting on the campus of the University at Los Angeles, Tuesday morning, February 14.

The hand of the law was laid upon a grand total of 135,000 California motorists during 1927, they being fined, jailed or otherwise punished for violations of the State motor vehicle act. The State motor vehicle department announces that actual reports on violations filed with the department number 85,000. It is estimated there are at least 50,000 additional violations which judges of California have failed to report.

Agricultural interests in the San Bernardino Valley are evidencing interest in the first intensive reforestation program ever attempted in the San Bernardino mountains, during which 15,000 young pines will be transplanted along the Rim-of-the-World this month. The trees will be planted under direction of S. A. Nash-Boulden, Supervisor of the San Bernardino National Forest, and County Forester Roy M. Tuttle, in territory burned over in 1922.

With several plans of procedure suggested for Federal acquisition of private timber lands inside the Yosemite National Park, Governor C. C. Young, it was announced last week, has been asked to use his influence in preventing any action which will tend to reduce the size of the park. Approximately 4,000 acres are said to be privately owned within the park, and it is generally agreed that these lands should be obtained by the government, according to Charles A. Whitmore, the governor's private secretary, who characterizes private holdings inside national parks as "a thorn in the side of park administration."

San Francisco and Los Angeles counties will receive more than one-third of the 1927 State motor vehicle fees for use in maintenance of county highways, it was announced a few days ago by the State Division of Motor Vehicles. Los Angeles will receive $1,500,610.12 on the basis of vehicle registrations for the last year the announcement said, and $298,660.12 will go to San Francisco. The state law provides that half the total motor vehicle fees shall go to the State Highway Commission and half to the county government for highway upkeep and repair. The announcement stated that Los Angeles registered 689,902 vehicles during 1927, an increase of 42,995 over the previous year. San Francisco registered 135,729 against 7,489. Though complete state totals are not yet available it was stated Alameda county will receive an apportionment of $269,254.13, on 126,101 vehicle registrations.

P-T A PLANS PROGRESSIVE DINNER

(Special to Campbell Press)

Tuesday afternoon the Campbell Union High School Parent-Teachers' Association met in the assembly hall. Mrs. Rice gave an interesting and instructive review of Mrs. Wilson's book, "Giving Your Child the Best Chance," touching briefly upon some of the chief chapters, Is Your Child a Genius, The Spoiled Child, The Adolescent Girl, etc., and in conclusion, stressing the imperative necessity of dealing honestly with children so at length they may have a sense of the truth from contact with truthful adults and to avoid being in the positions of those parents, who, having promised little daughter a ride, went off without her, only to hear her remark as they drove away, "There go two liars."

The P.-T. A. is planning a progressive dinner party to be held on the evening of March 12, the hostessess being Mrs. Hummell, Mrs. Zillmer and Mrs. Hedegard. The ice-cream, cake and grand finale will be enjoyed at the high school gymnasium, where parents and teachers, forgetting grave dignity, will have an old-time frolic.

WILLOW GLEN IS RILED OVER DOG HOSPITAL

SAN JOSE, Feb. 22.—Willow Glen which incorporated to keep the Southern Pacific railroad and corporations from running wild within its precincts has another fight on its hands. Cold day when Willow Glen hasn't one scrap. Its City Attorney is going to be a busy person. This time Willow Glen wants to banish an animal hospital which Dr. Herman Vetterling is trying to locate on Minnesota avenue. Dr. Vetterling gave a snug fortune to endow such a place. When the news spread over Willow Glen, the citizens sounded the tocsin. They said the hospital would ruin their properties. It was worse than the railroad coming through. Dr. Vetterling was beseeched to locate his "home" elsewhere, but he stood pat. Now the Willow Glen trustees have passed ordinances outlawing it, and Dr. Vetterling, who has his dander up will test them in court. So Willow Glen is once more before the public eye.

County to Build to Skyline Boulevard

The Supervisors are going to make the dirt fly on the highway from Saratoga up to the new Skyline boulevard very soon. Their first step this week was to appoint a board of viewers to relocate the road and this board consists of Robert Chandler, county surveyor and engineer; J. D. Farwell and Luther Cunningham. The new board of viewers will hold their first meeting February 28. "It won't be such a difficult thing to locate this road," said Robert Chandler yesterday. "We will follow the old highway pretty much."

A census of the orange acreage of Orange county was completed by the county horticultural office last month. The inspectors have reported every planting showing acreage and age. The census reveals that Orange county has at present the largest total county acreage in the state—50,228 acres—divided into 39,003 bearing acres and 11,225 nonbearing. Acreage data from other leading citrus counties show Los Angeles county, 44,355 acres; San Bernardino county, 40,222 acres; Tulare county, 36,327 acres; Riverside, 16,802 acres.

That livestock is a safe means of diversification and an aid to safe farming, is the lesson to be taught by the California Agriculture Special, a 14-car demonstration train to be operated through the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys, March 19 to 31. The Southern Pacific Company and the University of California Agricultural Extension Service are cooperating in this series of meetings on agricultural economics.

MRS. PERROTT LEADS IN CLUB PROGRAM

Mrs. F. V. Perrott was chairman of a most delightful program Monday afternoon at the library. The opening numbers were two piano duets played by Mrs. Perrott and Mrs. Geo. Robson, "Hungarian Dances," by Brahms and Scharwenka.

The chairman then read a charming description of English country scenery, with which she is very familiar through walking and riding trips enjoyed as a girl. The three things which she had found by observation and conversation with tourists that make English country life and scenery so delightful are its compactness, diversity and greenness.

The four places which were most attractive to her were the Yorkshire Moors in the north-eastern part of the country, Forquay, in the southwestern corner of Devonshire; the lake district, in which is the Vale of Grasmere, and a masterpiece in stone, the cathedral of Durham on the Weir river. Some very beautiful pictures were shown in connection with the reading.

Mrs. Herbert Shadle sang two beautiful songs, "Her Rose," by Gerret Smith, and "Spring Song," by Oscar Weil. Mrs. Perrott acting as her accompanist.

The speaker of the afternoon was then introduced, Mrs. Nora H. McMurdo, whose comments on Life were most entertaining. She read first a humorous little verse from the New York Times, "The Times in Rhyme," that cleverly introduced a number of the current topics, as did another, "International Relations."

The next topic was the trend of the day relative to religion by the youth and the more adults. The subject was suggested by an article in the February Scribners, "The Faith of Our Fathers."

In connection with the new books she read a few excerpts from "The Poetry Cure," and concluded with a very fine interpretation of the story, "The Cuckoo."

The whole combined to make a very pleasing afternoon.

BEAN WHITMAN WILL CELEBRATE

C. H. Whitman, dean of Campbell business men, will celebrate his 33rd anniversary March 1 as Campbell's hardware merchant and plumber.

He started business on March 1, 1895 in what was known then as the Willett Block, recently occupied by Miller's Store. His beginning was comparatively small and by a steady application to his line has built up a very large business and has one of the best equipped stores in this section. He will celebrate by giving his trade an opportunity to make advantageous buys in the week following March 1st.

DINNER PARTY

Mrs. G. C. Eddlemon and Miss Wilma Smith entertained at a dinner at the former's home last Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Agnes Benefiel.

Yellow was the color scheme adopted, carried out in place cards, candles and a large bowl of daffodils.

Those present were Mrs. Benefiel, Warren Eddlemon, Major King, Clarence Silva, Gayno Eddlemon and the hostesses. Music and games completed the evening.

How California farmers sell their crops will be shown to members of the American Institute of Cooperation, which meets at the University of California, July 9 to August 4. The first week of the institute will be spent in a trip through the state visiting the California cooperative marketing organization.

OLD SETTLERS' DAY AT CAMPBELL ANOTHER BIG COMMUNITY SUCCESS

Ideal Day Adds to Joys of Festive Occasion

The thirty-fourth Old Settlers' Day celebration at Campbell Wednesday went off most successfully. If a community ever had reason to feel proud of its school band and orchestras that community is Campbell, for the boys under the direction of Mr. A. Thiekle helped tremendously to start the day with the proper spirit. Invocation was offered by Rev. J. J. Pardee.

J. Henry Campbell, our oldest native son, acted as chairman. In his address of welcome he expressed his great pleasure in having lived all his days in this delightful clime.

Professor Edwin A. Lee of the California University gave a very enlightening talk on "The meaning of freedom" and drew many interesting pictures of the various forms of freedom at different times and places. Real freedom of the individual must not go so far that it interferes with or curtails the rights of others.

Freedom changes with customs or as necessity demands and may be very different in different places at the same time. The benediction was given by Rev. J. H. Bennett.

In the afternoon following the singing of America by the audience, led by Miss Marian Jenkins, Mrs. Wallace Deming of San Jose sang "Open Road," by Gertrude Ross and "Homing" by Del Riego. Miss Ruth Darling at the piano. So well pleased were her hearers that for encore they were graciously favored with a third number.

Dr. A. E. Antrim gave a very entertaining and enlightening talk on the romance of early Santa Clara valley history and there are few who know it as he does and fewer who can tell it as he does. Anyone who failed to hear his story missed a treat.

The old-time clash of single and married men on the diamond proved to be quite a one-sided affair, the old heads walking off with the long straw by a 9 to 3 score. The game was marred by three casualties. Hal Morton was quite badly spiked at first, "Red" Lovell caught a fast ball on the left ear and Antone Bonaccorso is nursing a bad left knee.

The Alumni proved the victors, 42-27 in a fast basketball game with the "Camels." Weight was much in favor of the grads, but the highs put up a game fight to the last gong.

The evenings entertainment was a complete success and elicited much commendation on all sides. Special praise was accorded the joint Choral Societies and their efficient and charming director, Mr. Benjamin Edwards.

For the length of time during which these two organizations have been studying, their work was remarkable, and was the best testimonial possible of Mr. Edwards' leadership. Mrs. Geo. Robson's accompaniment was very helpful and Prof. Josef Halamick's violin accompaniment to "Greetings to Spring" added very materially to its beauty. The other numbers were "Hymn to Spring," "May Time" and "Brown Bird Singing."

The solo numbers by Mr. Edwards were enthusiastically enjoyed as he has become a great favorite with Campbell music lovers. He was accompanied by Mrs. Edwards.

"Two Black Crows" were well imitated by Miss Singleton and Miss Fablinger, who put on a very good number.

Eight other members of the grammar school faculty constituted the "Goof Ballet" more remarkable for its uniquely humorous costuming than its intricate technique, but it was another popular number.

The vaudeville stunt given by Mr. and Mrs. W. Loris Smith, a comedy dialogue between a lady and a Jew kept the audience highly amused and the whistling which concluded the act was also well received and received an encore.

The one-act play, which concluded the program, titled, "Mrs. Flynn's Lodgers," was the contribution of the Kiwanis Club to the program. That this organization has histrionic talent has previously been demonstrated, and the members, who participated in this delightful playlet, added to the laurels of the club as dramatic artists. The cast of characters included such well known stars as Guy Farley, who took the part of Richard Fairfax, an artist; Walt Merrill, his negro servant, Sam; (Walt needs no introduction as a black face artist;) Nic Hedegard, the German professor Weinhaben; Joe Bennett, as Reginald Sawyer, the typical English fop of the stage, and Ira Abbott, as Mrs. Flynn, a fine type of Irish, yes—landlady.

Most assuredly, if this had been advertised as "satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded," there would have been no applicants at the box office.

KIWANIANS HEAR INSPIRING TALK

At the directors' meeting Monday evening it was decided that a show would be given on April 13 for the purpose of paying off the indebtedness on the library. A combined committee of Kiwanis and Country Woman's Club will have the matter in charge.

Mark Purmort is an artist of the first waters, and a few strokes his deft hand depicted three noted pictures much to the edification of the boys and Frank Cutting our real artist in oils.

Mrs. W. F. Stone gave two pretty whistling solos.

Rev. J. A. Stevenson of San Jose gave a most interesting talk on patriotism and real ideals.

This is the day of interest in "my neighbors," and as the circle enlarges my neighbors increase and nothing is truer than "no man liveth unto himself." It would be a most neighborly performance for Congress to appropriate $750,000,000 for world peace instead of the building of a larger navy. Let us be the pioneers of peace, not at any price, but by cultivation.

SHADLE DRUG STORE

Herbert Shadle opened his new modern drug store this week in the Miller Store.

New drugs and goods have been arriving for several days and Mr. Shadle has been busy loading his shelves. The arrangement is a novel double-shelf alcove effect in which a complete stock is very conveniently packed. A prescription room is placed at the entrance to the main passage. The color scheme is the same blue-gray of the store fixtures.

Mr. Shadle assures his patrons of courteous and speedy service at prices equal to or better than city prices.

Herb was 11 years with the San Jose branch of the Owl Drug Co., and certainly knows his mortar.

One of the greatest principles of life is "do something for the other fellow and do it with him." Team work is a grand idea that will do wonders if properly applied.

O Strom will be chairman next Tuesday and Dr. Frieland of San Jose Teachers' College will be the speaker.

California's State printing plant saved the taxpayers $344,991.53 in 1927 in the publication alone of elementary school free text books. Additional savings of thousands of dollars were made in printing jobs for state departments. These figures, compiled by State Printer Carroll Smith, last week were presented to Governor C. C. Young as proof of the value of the state plant in turning out high class work at a cost greatly under privately owned printing shops. The year's output of text books was 1,409,275 volumes, which were published at a total cost f.o.b. pupil, including printing cost plus 5 per cent royalty, 10 per cent board of education overhead for distribution, of $461,719.74. To have had the books published in a private plant would have cost the state $806,711.27, or an excess of $344,991.53 over the state plant figures.

Teach Children Kindness

By MISS G. KENDALL

This teaching kindness to animals may seem a simple thing; but the more one looks into its merits the more penetrating this spiritualizing influence proves to be, causing a change of conduct, inspiring justice and compassion in the place of selfishness and cruelty; training the mind to apprehend, and the heart to sympathize with the needs of the lowly creatures who form the theoretical object lesson of such surpassing interest to the young; obviously the protecting sympathy which a child may be taught to feel toward the helpless dumb companion, may in after years inspire the life of the philanthropist.

How much such teaching is needed is demonstrated by the incredibly cruel deeds perpetrated by children even of tender years, which call forth neither remonstrance nor reproof from parent or guardian.

Washington Made Human

We celebrated yesterday the birthday of George Washington and we are better citizens for it. During the past year there have appeared biographies of the father of our country which have occasioned some bitter comment. Just because the biographers treated Washington as a human person, having faults as well as many virtues they were charged with muck-racking the great man. For example, it was pointed out that Washington had a cellar and knew good liquor from bad. What of it? In the revolutionary times before the 18th amendment was ever dreamed of even ministers of the gospel kept a "wee bit" on the sideboard to wet the whistle. If Washington was a convivial spirit how about U. S. Grant, another great American? Every one knows that story told of Lincoln when some one asked him if he was aware that his general was a heavy drinker and how Lincoln met the situation by asking the tattler to procure some of Grant's brand so he could pass it along to his other generals, who were losing instead of winning battles like Ulysses. Now, the present day biographer is getting away from the old school of making a person either a god or a devil. Take the case of Napoleon, writers of the past portrayed him either superman or superdevil. Ludwig of the new school of biography brought out last year what we believe to be the best life history yet written of the great Frenchman, and Ludwig is a German. Quite often are best books of this sort written by foreigners. Foreigners can view their subject with less bias and prejudice it would seem. Ludwig just made a man out of Napoleon, and yet his story is fascinating because of its very humanism. And Washington will not suffer if the cherry tree story goes by the boards and we find that he loved a glass of sherry or port.

Skyline Boulevard

Governor C. C. Young's highway commission means to make the Skyline boulevard a reality if nothing else. At the meeting of the commission last week it voted to add $480,000 more to the fund which brings its total apportionment up to $780,000 which will complete the boulevard to the Saratoga gap. And now the Supervisors should make haste to do their share and connect up this scenic thoroughfare with the Santa Clara valley. The Skyline boulevard is certain to be a popular route for tourists seeing the beauties of California. And the highway commission is to be commended for making it possible to finish the work begun under the administration of Governor Stephens.

THE CAUSE

Profits are but a superficial test of industrial efficiency, which derives ultimately from a pride and happiness in work. Hence it is that material reconstruction fails unless it be the symptom and accompaniment of moral improvement.—London Observer.

California has a year-round producing climate. The Californian can work, grow crops or play every month of the year.

Twice the national average of wealth, twice the average of savings bank deposits and twice the average deposits. Only three States report more income tax returns; none has so many automobiles per capita.

If you're wedded to your job pay your savings account some regular alimony.

Precautions

THE MAN that polishes the windows in the towering office buildings laughs at the fears of the onlookers in the street. A simple safety device anchors him securely to his job. The man that places his valuables in an American Trust Company safe deposit box may laugh at the dangers of fire and theft. He knows that no form of protection for valued articles excels that of the modern bank vault. Four dollars a year will rent a good-sized box in American Trust Company vaults.

CHARLOTTE PALMER CALLED TO REWARD

Miss Charlotte E. Palmer was born in Stonington, Conn., April 25, 1858. From Stonington, the family moved to Providence, R. I., where they lived for three years. From Providence they moved to Oakland, Calif., where they lived for 12 years, and where Miss Palmer completed her education. She has lived in Pomona since 1883, with the exception of nine years spent in Oakland and Campbell, Calif.

In the passing of Miss Charlotte E. Palmer, Pilgrim Congregational Church loses one of its very highly valued members. Miss Palmer was one of the charter members. In its beginnings, she identified herself with the important interests of the church, taking an active part in the Sunday School and in the organization and work of the Christian Endeavor Society.

The church and its interests were always dear and uppermost in her mind and heart. Her devotion to the interests of Christ's Kingdom came, not merely as a duty to her Master, but as a privilege gladly accepted. As a teacher in the Sunday School for many years she was most highly and greatly beloved by those who came under her instruction. The faithfulness of her teaching is borne out in living testimony on the part of many who were led through her influence to accept the better way.

In her home life the beauty of her character found abundant expression in love, self-sacrifice and devotion. Forgetfulness of self in doing for others was ever spontaneous and the joy of her life.

Her Bible was her constant guide through the years. With a clear, firm belief in the great fundamental principles of Christian faith, she did not permit herself to be disturbed by varied interpretations of things of lesser importance.

She was faithful to the trust committed to her care and, while she has stepped over the border to the better land, we do not say of her that her life is ended, for the beauty of her character is still speaking to us in living terms, and will continue to do so, as the years go by.

On Christmas Day, 1927, with a circle of relatives about her, she suffered a stroke and passed into the higher life, December 29, 1927. The surviving members of her family are a brother, Frank L. Palmer of La Verne; a sister, Harriet R. Palmer of Pomona; five nephews, Ralph P. Merritt of Fresno, Frank C. Palmer of Stockton, Fred B. Palmer of Pomona, Donald D. Palmer of Los Angeles, Dr. Roger S. Palmer of La Verne; two nieces, Hazel Merritt of Berkeley, Mrs. Loring Warner of Marion, Ohio; an uncle, E. T. Palmer, and a cousin, Patty Palmer, both of Pomona; two cousins, Harold K. Palmer and Elizabeth D. Palmer of Los Angeles, and eleven grand-nephews and nieces.

Miss Charlotte Palmer was an active worker in Campbell during her residence here and was one of the organizers of the Pundite Circle.

Bids for the new $100,000 machinery exhibit building at the State Fair will be opened March 9 at 2 o'clock in the office of George B. McDougal, state architect, he announces. Work will begin on the structure within 30 days so that it may be ready for occupancy by the time of the 1928 fair next September. The new building, one-story in height, will have a frontage of about 230 feet and a length of 385 feet.

As a reflection of the building and the community progress that follows the establishment of a university, plans for another impressive structure adjacent to the Westwood campus of the University of California at Los Angeles have just been announced by southern California Masonic officials. The proposed building is to cost $250,000 and will be used by students affiliated with the Masonic order or whose parents are so affiliated, as a clubhouse and social center. Construction of the University buildings on the campus proper is well under way.

Members of the philosophy department of the University of California at Los Angeles are attempting to make a complete collection of the works of the Dr. Josiah Royce, graduate of the University, one of the most eminent philosophers America has ever known, and recently pronounced one of California's four greatest men.

The body of a man believed to be one of the missing transpacific Dole flyers was washed ashore near Ventura last week. The only identification possible was bits of clothing, identified as that of the Navy, clinging to the body which gave evidence of having been in deep salt water for some time. The only naval aviator unaccounted for in the Dole flight was Lieut. Vilas R. Knope of San Diego. He was the navigator of the ill-fated Miss Doran, which carried John A. Pedlar as pilot and Miss Mildred Doran as a passenger. Pedlar and Miss Doran were from Flint, Mich.

Plans for the second annual observance of Narcotic Education Week, February 22-29, as a means of bringing home to the people of America the growing dangers of the narcotic drug evil were announced last week at the office of Governor C. C. Young. The educational program is to be emphasized through the public schools, motion pictures, the press and the radio in all parts of the country, according to arrangements being made by the world conference on narcotic education.

Reports that Francis Drake, editor of a Los Angeles labor publication, is being backed by Southern California friends for appointment to the State industrial accident commission were being circulated in political circles at the Capitol last week. The position for which Drake was mentioned is that of Commissioner J. E. Olmsted of Petaluma who has indicated to Governor Young his desire to resign from the State service at the executive's convenience.

Public hearings, starting in Sacramento on March 1st, will be held by the state tax commission under a plan adopted at a meeting of the commission in San Francisco last week. Meetings will also be held in San Francisco and Los Angeles, in the bay city on March 6th and in the south on March 13th. All individuals and organizations interested in the commission's investigation of the taxation and revenue system of the state government are invited to air their opinions at the hearings. Robert M. Haig, expert of the commission, who arrived in California from New York a few days ago, will spend the rest of the month getting acquainted with California conditions.

TRAIN TIME SLASHED TO EAST

Southern Pacific type, 3-cylinder locomotive, the most modern development in railroad construction, pulls the famous Overland Limited. The running time of the Overland Limited from San Francisco to Chicago will again be reduced effective March 4.

is now one of the finest in the country."

TIME will again be slashed between the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts. A year ago Southern Pacific company reduced the schedule of the San Francisco Overland Limited, which operates between San Francisco and Chicago, from 68 to 63 hours.

Now comes the announcement by F. S. McGinnis, passenger traffic manager for the company, that the east-bound Overland Limited will make the journey in 61 hours and 15 minutes, thus providing an additional full business day at Chicago. Under the new arrangement the Overland Limited eastbound and westbound arrive at eastern and western terminals at approximately the same time.

In making the announcement McGinnis called attention to the important improvement made by western railroads, particularly Southern Pacific, in their passenger service in the last two years.

"During the past two years Southern Pacific spent more than $4,300,000 in purchasing new passenger train equipment for use on Pacific Lines," said McGinnis. "New type Pullman cars with many features not heretofore included in railroad architecture are being added to the Overland Limited at the present time. This train

During the past year Southern Pacific has entirely changed the equipment of the Sunset Limited which operates between San Francisco and New Orleans. The equipment on that route now includes new Pullmans, new club, observation and dining cars, shower baths, and valet service, barber and ladies' maid. On the Sunset route from New York to New Orleans, the new passenger steamer "Dixie" has been added. An additional train to Chicago, the "Gold Coast Limited," with new Pullmans, dining cars, club and observation cars, is also among the recent improvements.

One of the notable achievements in the 1927 record of western transportation was the completion of the new Cascade Line in Oregon which provides an alternate route through a scenic region opened for the first time. This route, over which the new Cascade operates, was constructed at a cost of $39,000,000. The Cascade makes the trip between San Francisco and Portland in 23 hours and consists of the same grade of equipment as the Overland Limited and the Golden State Limited.

Trains over the new Cascade line carry through Pullman cars to Tacoma and Seattle. In pleasant weather open-top observation cars are operated through the scenic parts of the line. A feature of the institution of this new line was the addition of an all-coach train between San Francisco and Portland.

Among other improvements made by Southern Pacific during the past year was the placing of bedroom cars and light supper refreshment service on the Lark, favored train between San Francisco and Los Angeles. New coaches of an unusually comfortable type have been added to the crack Daylight which makes the scenic non-stop trip over the Coast route between San Francisco and Los Angeles in 12 hours. Fast service to Sacramento with 13 trains daily is among the improvements in train facilities.

In its peninsula service Southern Pacific now operates 32 trains throughout the day to San Jose and way points. Another innovation this year was the institution of through Pullman service to Yosemite by way of Merced and over the new route of the Yosemite Valley railroad to El Portal. A year ago Southern Pacific instituted through Pullman service to Lake Tahoe.

Another train added to Southern Pacific's service during the past year is the San Joaquin, a new daylight limited which operates between San Francisco and Los Angeles by way of the San Joaquin valley.

William Edward Hickman's kidnapping and murder of little Marion Parker cost the City and County of Los Angeles $36,850, it was disclosed a few days ago in conservative estimates by officials. And it is costing $400 each day for trial of Hickman and Welby Hunt for the murder of C. Ivy Thoms. This is more than $1 for every minute of the court day. The city's estimate cost for the search for "The Fox" and his capture amounts to approximately $61,850. The county's cost up to the time Hickman was convicted and sentenced to hang was approximately $25,000.

Over $5,000,000 worth of commercial fertilizers were purchased by California growers during 1927, according to a report just issued by the State Department of Agriculture. Half of this amount was spent during the first three months of the year. To explain the value of commercial fertilizers and other soil amendments used in California, the division of chemistry of the State Department of Agriculture will soon publish a new bulletin on the subject. Analysis reports, the value of various kinds of fertilizers, results of soil improvement investigations and other interesting subjects will be discussed in the bulletin.

Five carloads of prunes were recently shipped for Germany from Banning. Prunes from this district have been shipped to Germany nearly every year, with occasional large shipments of dried apricots also going to the same country. Much of the fruit is resold to Austria, and other Southern European countries, after reaching its destination. The fruit is being sent out in 200-pound sacks, and shipped by rail to San Pedro, where it is loaded on a boat bound directly for Germany. The fruit is all grown in Banning district orchards, by local members of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association.

The Libby cannery at Selma will start about March 1st on spinach, according to manager R. C. Turvin, who says that he hopes to employ about 450 women and 150 men when the canning work commences. Most of the spinach comes from the Tagus Ranch near Tulare, by truck, the local officials have not yet estimated the amount or the acreage. The crop is reported to be coming along in good shape, with a promise of good quality.

Fruits and vegetables have a necessary place in diet, but the strict vegetarian, in view of "the newer knowledge of nutrition," is at a disadvantage in maintaining "health, activity and ability to work." That, at least, is what M. E. Jaffa, chief of the State Bureau of Food and Drugs, Department of Public Health, thinks about it. "Vegetable protein," he says, "is not nearly as efficient in building up muscles, brain and other vital organs of the body as is animal protein, which is furnished by lean meat, eggs and milk."

New, cheerful lighting—free trial in your home

The money you spend for one of these lamps does considerable to improve the appearance of your furnishings.

For the abundance of soft, colorful light makes an "interior" seem lovelier. It's just like redecorating the whole room.

There is a reflector under the silk shade that distributes the light over the entire room. This is the new principle of design that combines beauty with good lighting and eliminates harmful glare and gloom.

The lamps have a base finished in silver or gold and there is a selection of four silk shades. Phone and ask our representative to place one of these lamps in your home for a three-day trial.

Men, women and children alike in California are hearty consumers of dairy products, according to Sam H. Greene, secretary of California Dairy Council, who last week estimated that the expenditure for whole milk, butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk, ice cream, cottage cheese and the many other products of the dairy cow totaled $150,000,000 during the twelve-month period which has just closed.

During 1927, California imported from neighbor States 28,808,507 pounds of butter and 20,402,852 pounds of cheese. These figures represent clearings from out of State by the central distributing agencies in San Francisco and Los Angeles as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture, Statistical Service. Fifty-one per cent of all clearings through the Los Angeles market was from out of State. In San Francisco, the figure was smaller, being 29 per cent. California produces only a small part of the cheese which this State consumes. Eighty per cent of the cheese that was cleared in San Francisco was from outside of the State; Los Angeles, 77 per cent.

Work is already under way for the seventh annual Chaffey Union High School Junior Farm Center Fair, to be held at the high school May 18 and 19. Forty boys will be in charge of the main departments this year, instead of the twenty who handled the affair a year ago. The junior fair has grown to such an extent that additional help is needed to take care of all the varied divisions. Nearly 1000 entries of poultry, pigeons, rabbits, cattle, swine, sheep, goats and horses were made in last year's fair, and it is expected that the livestock department this year will be even larger. In addition, there will be numerous horticultural and garden exhibits.

Charles E. Andrews, engineer of the commission, will be in charge of the structural end of the investigation.
